It has almost every fault crowded into it that a Bill could have; but I have voted for it, and I suppose I shall support the Government, if the Lords insist on having a trial of strength over it. That is the true Liberal way of going on! You hate the Bill, and yet you support it. How can you defend such flagrant treachery to your own opinions? retorted Pennell. Wait a moment, said Angus. Before he clears his character, let him first tell us why he docs not like the Bill Why should you make mo tell you? answered Danby. Pennell's friends have been telling you over and over again during the last few weeks, and most of the things they have said are substantially true. Except Argyll and Lansdowne, nobody could have said truer things about it than Gibson did. The Bill is not a straightforward measure. It is...
