

Citizen Participation in Rural Development

By M. Seetharam

Mittal Publications, New Delhi, 1990. N.A. Book Condition: New. Xiv+114pp Integrated rural development holds the key for amelioration of the rural masses living below the poverty line in developing countries. Citizen participation occupies a pride of place in the agenda for action for poverty alleviation endeavours. The subject stimulates interest and arouses questions like, is participations the answer for all ills of planning and implementation in rural development sector. The study seeks to explore the nature and extent of awareness and involvement among citizens in development programmes aimed at alleviation of rural poverty. It was conducted in a development block in East Godavari district of Andhra Pradesh in India. The study found that the participants enjoy better economics, educational and social positions and are endowed with better exposure to media. However, these factors vary in the influence on the nature of opportunity structure which determines the participation of some and exclusion of many in rural development programmes.
