Excerpt: .one; and it is, in the opinion of their Lordships, clear that a protection was in this respect intended to be thrown around the body of the Communicants, which ought to be secured them by an observance of the plain intent of the Rubric. In applying these principles to the present case, their Lordships find that some difficulty has arisen from the circumstances under which the evidence was taken. The charge against the Appellant was a twofold one; both that he had stood at the middle of the west side with his back to the people, and that the people could not see him break the bread or take the cup in his hand. The witness Nicholson undoubtedly states that, at the service of which he speaks, while sitting in the nave, he could not see the Appellant perform the manual acts; and the...
